EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

1. Due to the statement of common ownership, previous 103(a) rejection over Hasegawa et al'124 in view of Hatakeyama et al (JP'918) and previous 103(a) rejection over Hasegawa et al'124 in view of Takeda et al'581 are hereby withdrawn.
2. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.
3. Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Mr. Gerald M. Murphy (attorney for applicants) on June 12, 2006.
4. The application has been amended as follows:

In Claim 11, line 2, change "claim 7" to --- claim 8 ---.

5. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: Upon reconsideration in view of applicants' argument, previous 103(a) rejection on claims 1, 2, 4, 5 and 7-10 over Nishi et al'182 in view of Hatakeyama (JP'918) and previous 103(a) rejection on claims 1, 2, 4 and 6-13 over Nishi et al'182 in view of Takeda et al'581 are hereby withdrawn. The Examiner agrees with applicants' argument that there is no motivation to combine Nishi with Hatakeyama or Takeda to arrive at the present invention: Nishi does not teach or fairly suggest that his polymer can additionally contain a recurring unit having silicon. Also, although Hatakeyama and Takeda disclose polymers with silicon-containing substituents, neither of those references suggests a motivation to make those polymer units as part of another polymer (such as Nishi's polymer). That is, there is no motivation to simply add silicon-containing recurring units taught by Hatakeyama or Takeda to any polymer, for instance the specific Polymer 2 of Nishi, in order to obtain a new polymer material.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
